Beating the Winter Blues

As the days get shorter and darker, many people start to feel the effects of Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD) — sometimes called the “winter blues”

It can leave you feeling low on energy, less motivated, and not quite yourself.

In the workplace, low mood, tiredness, difficulty concentrating, and decreased motivation can understandably affect productivity and wellbeing.

The good news? There are little things that can make a BIG difference:

- Chase the daylight – open blinds, sit near windows, and make the most of natural light whenever you can.
- Get Outside or Stay active – moving your body, even just a stretch or short walk at lunchtime can help lift your mood, can give you a boost. Encourage physical activity, wellness or mindfulness breaks, and lunchtime walks which can all help improve staff mood.

- Try a light lamp – some people find “SAD lamps” (light therapy lamps) really helpful as they mimic natural sunlight and can help lift your mood and energy levels without you even realising
- Talk about it – if you’re struggling, don’t keep it to yourself. A quick chat can make things feel lighter. Make sure your colleagues feel comfortable discussing mental health without stigma.

We can’t control the weather (sadly!), but we can look out for each other and make the winter months feel a little brighter. By making small adjustments and showing understanding, employers can support staff living with SAD and create a healthier, happier workplace through the winter months.

With new budgets arriving soon, now is the perfect time to review your playground equipment and plan your outdoor areas
Outdoor Classrooms are a great way to get back to nature and learn in different ways.
Step away from the norm!

- Over the years, even the most loved spaces can start to look a little worn and updating them can bring big benefits for both pupils and staff.

Why consider an update?

- Safety first – New equipment meets the latest safety standards, giving you peace of mind.
- Inclusive play – Modern designs often include features for children of all abilities, helping every pupil feel part of playtime.
- Boost wellbeing – Fresh, engaging spaces encourage active play, teamwork, and creativity, supporting pupils' physical and mental health.
- From a new climbing frame or sports equipment, shaded outdoor teaching areas, resurfacing any hazardous spots or even adding some small sensory spaces, investing now can transform break times and help you make the most of your outdoor space for years to come.
- If you'd like ideas, layout support, or a no-obligation quote, we'd be happy to help you plan the perfect playground upgrade.

Time to Refresh Your Playground?

Q - What is the worst part of flat pack furniture?

A – The huge mess you have to clear up and get rid of afterwards?

Well, we have found a fantastic solution for you!! Our waste packaging, recycling and reuse scheme, forms part of our sustainable solutions programme, Weaver

This service enables us, and you, to easily dispose of unwanted packaging material and furniture in a manner that is not only low cost and hassle free but, most importantly, is sustainable and environmentally-friendly.

Part 1 - Furniture Recycling – Out with the Old!

According to Waste & Resource Action Programme (WRAP), it is estimated that 1.2 million office desks and 1.8 million office chairs end up in land fill every year, making it the most common way to dispose of old or unwanted furniture.

We want to stop this and we have been rethinking it!

Any furniture we collect is returned to our re.think depot and is stripped down, segregated, and fully recycled – avoiding landfill.

This gives you a fantastic, sustainable furniture disposal solution at a fraction of the cost usually associated with waste management. (Prices from £15)

For efficient recycling, we dismantle each product and segregate the materials as follows:

- Wood - Board types are segregated and recycled in various ways. Much of the material here goes off-site to large biomass burners which generate green energy.
- Metal - There are two main metals used in office furniture: steel and aluminium. These materials are separated and can be recycled many times over.

- Plastics - Using the Plastics Industry Association's coding system, in accordance with ISO11469:2016, we can easily identify the various plastics. These categories allow clearer segregation for improved recyclability. Each of these plastics are converted to pellets and can be re-used to produce new products.
- Fabric - Fabric is segregated into Vinyl, Synthetic and Wool. Wool is returned to our fabric supplier on a closed loop recycle chain. Vinyl and Synthetics are segregated and bailed to be recycled and re-processed.
- Foam - Any foam that can be removed from the product is returned to our foam supplier on a closed loop recycle chain, and is put back into the manufacturing process. As with fabric, any foam that cannot be removed is segregated and disposed of via a regulated supplier.

Part 2 – Packaging Recycling – In with the New!

Your brand new furniture is not forgotten about either, all the protective packaging, plastics and foam corners can be a real hassle to dispose of Well, not anymore!

- In order to be recycled correctly and efficiently, your waste packaging is separated into four streams of particular materials.
- Cardboard and Paper (RCY-01) This can be any type of cardboard, catalogues, and brochures
- Plastic Packaging and Shrink Wrap (RCY-02) This can be the plastic used to wrap products; shrink wrap, bubble wrap, chair bags, blue foam edge protector
- Foam Pedestal Corners (RCY-03) These are the foam corner protectors found in our furniture products
- Wooden Corner Packaging (RCY-04) The heavy duty MFC and cardboard corner protection found in furniture products

How it works in 2 Simple steps

1 - PURCHASE RECYCLING BAGS FOR YOUR PACKAGING WASTE

Order your packaging waste bags from our sales team using the code RE-BAG. Bags are sold in packs of 25- Prices from £3.50

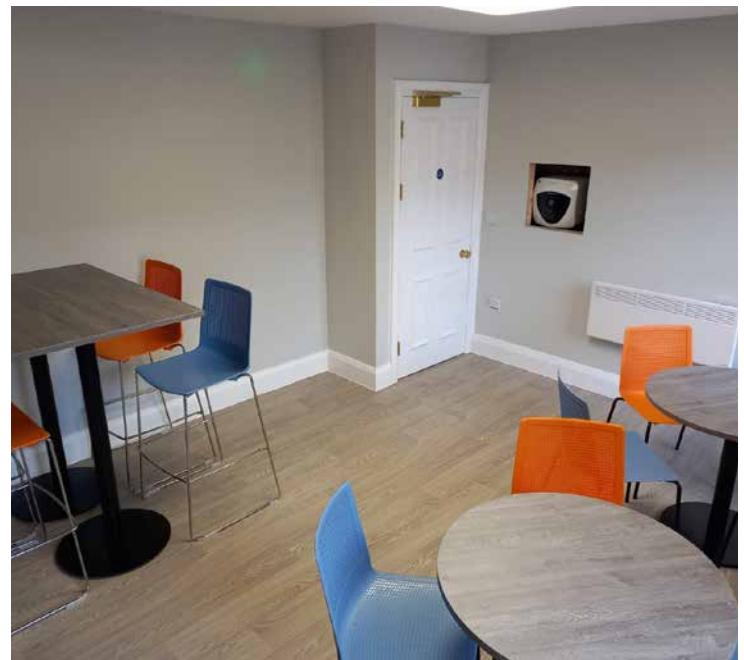

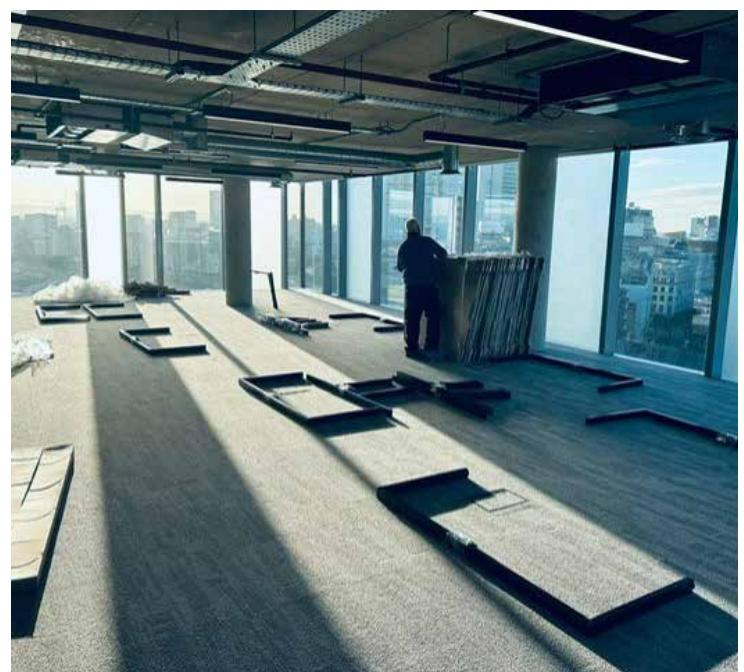

2 - ARRANGE COLLECTION

When you are ready for us to collect your old furniture, and your waste bags are full, contact our team and let them know the quantity of each type of furniture item and how many bags of packaging waste to collect, using the reference codes, (RCY-02 etc)

We will then collect the furniture and waste when we are in the area, returning it to our re.think depot for processing It really is as easy as that!

Sign up to the re.think scheme by contacting sales@officebridgegroup.com, one of our team can help with the design your space and you can start your new furniture fit out journey today with the added bonus of being sustainable and environmentally-friendly!

Unfortunately, not all locations can currently be efficiently collected from, as we aim to collect via return loads and in doing so maintain our low carbon footprint.

YEARS

This year marks a huge milestone 20 incredible years of Office Bridge Group!

And of course, we couldn't let a special occasion pass without some serious fun.

In true OBG style, we celebrated with plenty of laughter, a few questionable team-building games, and naturally lots of cake!

There was friendly competition, some suspect dance moves, and a handful of photos that will probably never see the light of day again — but most importantly, we had an amazing time celebrating together over the past few weeks.

It's been an unforgettable journey so far — two decades of growth, change, and countless memorable moments.

Good News - The Celebrations Continue for You!

Every order placed this month comes with a mystery discount prize voucher — and you might even win a £50 prize!

Helping You Prepare for the New School Uniform Logo Regulation

With the new regulations around branded school uniform logos coming into effect, we want to help advise you on how your school plans to stay compliant, and we can ensure a smooth transition for yourselves, pupils, and parents

September 2026 may feel like a long way away, but new government guidelines on school uniform, (featured in the Children's Wellbeing and Schools Bill), indicate schools 'should get a head start on preparation for the next academic year now, as the government intends to make the change in the law before September 2026.'

Schools must publish their revised uniform policy on their website and ensure that all parents are made aware of where uniforms can be purchased. The guidance adds that this facility should be made available to all parents before the start of the new academic year.

Clearly, uniform is a crucial issue for parents and schools alike. For the most part, the changes are to ensure school uniform remains as affordable as possible and whilst this transition may seem like a big task, Office Bridge are here to make it simple, positive and stress-free for both your school and your families.

With these changes in mind, the guidance 'urges schools to review their uniform policy' soon to ensure it meets the requirements, and to confirm as soon as possible which branded items, within the limit, will be compulsory from September 2026.

(3 items for Primary school and 4 for secondary schools)

It suggests, schools should assess their existing supply arrangements, seek any legal advice where necessary and discuss any changes with suppliers promptly.

Given that uniform suppliers plan production nine to 12 months in advance, with branded uniform stock typically being ordered by December for the following summer, the government recommends schools get ahead of this new guidance now

Whether you need updated uniform items, guidance on compliant logo placement, or support communicating changes to parents, your team at Office Bridge is ready to assist.

We offer fast turnaround times, clear pricing, and a fully managed bespoke online service to keep everything on track.

www.officebridgeprint.com/schooluniform

We can offer non branded items to sit next to your compulsory branded choices and ensure all families are catered for and all laws and regulations are adhered to.

If you'd like to discuss your plans for the new requirements or need help putting them in place, we're here to support you every step of the way.
